Court upholds convictions of Skinner, Massa

The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, at a session Monday in St. Louis, upheld the April 1983 conviction of Duane Skinner, 35, a Pontoon Beach area accountant, for involvement in the Stix & Co. stock brokerage swindle but reversed four of the counts against him.

The appeals panel in the same ruling upheld all counts of the conviction of James J. Massa, 52, a Collinsville lawyer who was another participant in the Stix scheme that centered around former Granite City-Thomas Brimberry. Brimberry is in prison.

THE BROKERAGE was looted by using false records and withdrawing millions of dollars. Massa became the majority owner aided by infusions of such money, and Brimberry gained control of internal operations.

Raises for workers

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH of the Press-Record

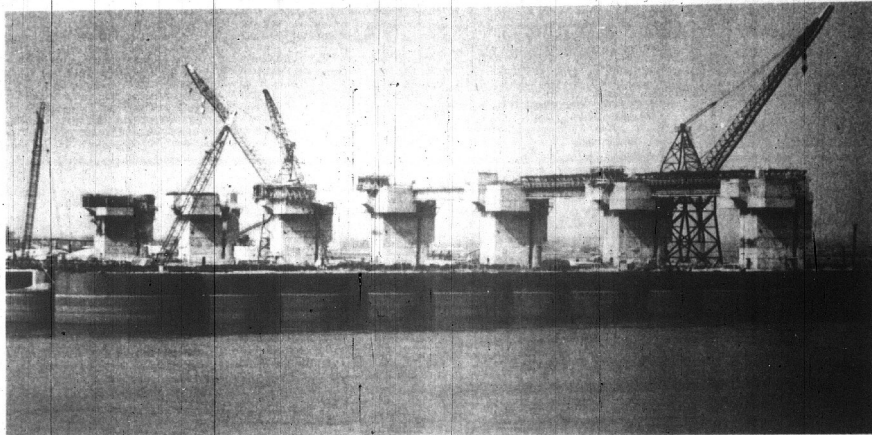

Members of the Granite City Council approved pay increases for firefighters and policemen in two separate motions Tuesday night.

The action will keep the city from entering into binding arbitration with the two groups, a move that was scheduled to begin next week. Neither group had been given a pay raise from the city for the past three years.

UNDER THE motion, policemen and firemen will be given a six percent raise, retroactive to May 1983. The increase for the 1983-84 fiscal year is to be paid in a lump sum and the six percent is to be added to base pay of the workers in 1984-85.

Paramedics and Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) also will be given raises. According to the motion, EMTs will be given a nine percent raise.

CONSTRUCTION RESUMES. Work at the Alton Locks and Dam No. 26 replacement project resumed as picket lines by members of the Carpenters' District Council of Madison County and vicinity were removed from the entrance to the construction site Monday. The carpenters are working under an extension of their old contract until Aug. 25 while negotiations with the general contractor of the project, Groves, Atkinson and Ball, continue. More than 500 workers, including 70 carpenters, were affected by the strike.

Source of metallic particles covering area is investigated

First Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish told Granite City Council members Tuesday night that he is concerned with the lack of Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) action against fugitive emissions in the city.

Skubish said he has received 17 complaints from residents in the First Ward concerning a "graphite-like substance" which is being deposited on cars, vegetable gardens and flowers.

HE SAID HE has kept a log of the occurrence of the substance and it has been reported on June 2, July 25, July 26 and Aug. 1.

On the latter date, residents in the 2200 block of Lee Avenue reported larger than normal pieces of the metallic particles were falling on their neighborhood. The particles were found to be magnetic, indicating some iron content.

Skubish said he has called the IEPA on several occasions about the emissions and that he gave the IEPA three samples of the particulates within the last two months. He has never received a report from the IEPA about this substance," he said.

SKUBISH SAID that he had called the Collinsville office of the IEPA about a report and was told that the head man was on vacation. He said he was then referred to an engineer, but the man told him that it was his last day on the job and he did not show up to take a sample. Skubish then was referred to Springfield, but the head man there also was on vacation. "It's easy to see how one could get frustrated," he said.

Skubish said he is suspects that the emissions are caused by the steel-making process. "The substance reminds me of graphite, but in the steel-making process, it is called quiche."

He said that a Granite City Steel representative came to one of the homes and told the residents that the emission was quiche.

"WE'RE AWARE that there have been complaints regarding a graphite-like material supposedly emitting from our operations at Granite City Steel, a spokesman for the company said this week. "We are currently conducting an investigation to determine if we are the source of the emissions and, if we are, what corrective action should be taken to reduce them."

At this time, he believes it is premature to speculate on the causes of the emissions," he said. Residents in the East Granite area also have contacted the IEPA in Collinsville and they, too, have had little success in finding out what is falling on their homes.

SKUBISH SAID that quiche is used to elevate the carbon content in iron in the blast furnace area of the steel mill and then the iron is transferred in hot metal cars to the basic oxygen furnace.

But Skubish said other sources have told him that the substance may be coming from nearby mill or slag operations not operated by Granite City Steel. "I don't know where the emissions are coming from," Skubish said. "The IEPA is the investigative body—they have the means to do these tests, but they are acting slowly."

Mayor Paul Schuler said he would call the Collinsville office of the IEPA about the substance. "We should have had a report by now," he said. "There are a lot of people who are being affected by this and I know I wouldn't want it all over my car."

Mayor backs bond issue referendum

In a prepared statement Tuesday night, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler told city council members that he supports the petition drive that hopes to place the school district's $6.6 million bond issue on the November ballot.

The petition must be signed by 10 percent of the registered voters to bring the bond issue to a vote. Saturday is the deadline for the notarized petitions to be turned in to the school board office.

"THE PEOPLE'S right to vote is the basis for our form of government," Schuler said. "Any time a governmental body attempts to deprive the people of this right, it is wrong. It is particularly wrong when the issue is a substantial expenditure of tax money."

"As mayor of Granite City, I urge that the people be given the right to vote on the $6.6 million bond issue proposed by the (Granite City) school board."

"I believe all public officials of our

Speeding toward danger

THE ONLY WARNING. A northbound tanker truck on Route 3 whizzes by one of two traffic signal warning signs near the top of the Chicago Avenue overpass Monday afternoon. The signs are the only warning of the hazardous intersection at the bottom of the overpass at Niedringhaus Avenue. Just hours before, a woman was seriously injured when a truck failed to stop at the red traffic signal at the intersection, crashing into the driver's side of her compact auto as she turned onto the highway.

Editorial comment

Viaduct creates a hazardous intersection

A fast-moving northbound truck climbs Granite City's Chicago Avenue viaduct, the driver giving only slight heed to the 35 miles per hour limit along Illinois Route Three and scant attention to small signs indicating there is a stoplight ahead.

As the heavy vehicle descends, it becomes painfully clear that the traffic signal is not only at the base of the hill, but also changing to red. Brakes are applied but the tractor-trailer cannot be fully stopped and it collides with an auto in its path, either crossing from Niedringhaus Avenue or coming to a stop while facing north on the highway.

A savage collision occurs, causing severe injury or death. It is a familiar occurrence, one that was repeated Monday when the subcompact car of Rosalie Burris of Granite City was struck and knocked 40 feet. Transferred by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and by helicopter to Firms Desloge Hospital for treatment of critical head and neck injuries, she was placed under intensive care.

Our complaint is not directed at the 35-year-old victim, who was obeying all laws, or even the badly shaken truck driver, who had no idea that the need to make a stop would be encountered so quickly.

We ask the Illinois Department of Transportation to take quick action. Perhaps initially, Niedringhaus and Granite City Army Installation traffic could be controlled by a flashing red light, with Route Three vehicles given a flashing yellow, instead of the present green-yellow-red sequence. At least all motorists would know that traffic coming off the viaduct was not going to stop, instead of them assuming that it would halt. Then, until the intersection ultimately can be moved farther from the overpass, with frontage roads utilized, IDOT will need to take other steps. These could include erecting massive warning signs reminiscent of the size of those that tell of hairpin mountain turns.

The problem of a changing stoplight while heavy vehicles descend a steep grade (autos also sometimes have trouble stopping) is compounded when rain, snow or ice makes the pavement slippery.

Such slaughter must be stopped, now. State authorities must think, plan and act to give law-abiding local residents and visitors a fighting chance to survive the perilous Route Three-Niedringhaus-Army Installation intersection.

Heat shelters open

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

Temporary heat relief centers now are available to Quad-City area residents. A center for Venice residents was announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

Other Quad-City area families seeking relief from the current wave of 90-degree plus temperatures and high humidity may utilize the Salvation Army Community Center, 3607 E. 23rd St., which is available as an emergency shelter, "whenever the need is there," Captain LaVern Poling commanded.

The Salvation Army shelter is open this week, although persons seeking some provisional respite from the heat are "being worked around Bible school sessions also taking place this week in the center," the officer said.

VENICE CIVIL DEFENSE Director Ben Honorable informed the Venice aldermen Tuesday night that individuals and families without adequate cooling systems in their homes who are suffering ill effects from the extreme temperatures may find relief at three temporary locations in that community.

Designated heat shelters are

Favorable action on funding of coal conversion projects

Governor James R. Thompson won approval of his efforts to continue funding consideration of three Illinois coal projects during action by the National Governors' Association last week.

The governor also sent a letter to the Illinois Congressional Delegation seeking its support against $10 billion in funding cuts that would scrap the projects in Illinois.

The governor, in a resolution to change NGA policy, proposed that Congress should fund the U.S. Synthetic Fuels Corporation (SFC) that will allow the most important projects that now have their applications before the corporation to go ahead.

"Unfortunately there are attempts in Washington to cut authorization and spending authority for SFC projects. If his attempt is successful, then what it means is that only those projects which have already been approved will stay alive and every other proposal would be killed. That would essentially reduce synfuels development to a western states effort," the governor said.

"There are 31 projects that have been submitted for approval by 17 states east of the Mississippi River, including three very important projects from Illinois. All three of these projects would use Illinois coal to produce either a clean burning fuel or raw material to make chemical products."

The three Illinois projects are the COCA-1, a coal gasification project near Springfield; Kilgus Congeneration, run by Allis-Chalmers Coal Gas Corporation at East Alton; and Standard Havens Incorporation, which has proposed a project to be located in Thornton in Cook County.

The governor's resolution was overwhelmingly adopted by the Committee on Energy and Environment.

The governor also sent an urgent letter to the Illinois Congressional Delegation asking it to take action that will ensure that Illinois' projects are funded under the Synthetic Fuels Corporation.

In other action, the governor sent a letter to Energy Secretary Donald

P. Hodel formally requesting funding for the state's proposal to join with the Department of Energy in establishing a national center for Research on Sulfur in Coal in Illinois.

The proposal requests a $5 million first year funding level for the project, to be used to study methods of removing sulfur from Illinois' high-sulfur coal.

The proposal is the product of several months of negotiations between Illinois scientists and the Department of Energy staff.

"It is our sincere hope that we can now move expeditiously to finalize the funding arrangements for this important endeavor. It would be an appropriate expression of your commitment to the future of high sulfur coal to a region so dependent on its continued use," Thompson said in the letter.

Diabetes classes start Monday at St. Elizabeth

There is no cure for diabetes. But there is a lot of information available that can help diabetics live full lives and avoid further complications.

For those interested in learning more about diabetes, classes will be offered Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 13 and 14, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Pascal Hall at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave.

Carol Henriks, a registered nurse and SEMC diabetes educator, will provide a general overview of the disease and discuss symptoms, management and complications.

A SEMC registered dietitian, Esther McGinnis, will discuss nutrition, eating out, sweeteners and meal planning using the "exchange" system. Michael Weaver, a SEMC pharmacist, will discuss insulin and oral antidiabetic agents.

For more information on these classes, interested persons may call St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 798-3144.

SEMC blood drive Aug. 16

"The greatest gift a person can give is the gift of life," says Sister Mary Thomas, president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

As in the past, area residents are being asked to participate in a blood drive. The drive, which will be held on Thursday, Aug. 16, is open to all healthy persons, age 17 years or older. The blood drive will be in Pascal Hall from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Donors over 66 years of age need a recent health statement from their physicians. Blood may be donated every eight weeks. Donors need not know their blood type.

"Each person gives less than a pint of blood," said Pat Davis, SEMC associate health nurse, "and the after-effects are minimal since the body replaces the liquid portion of the blood quickly. The energy loss might be compared to the exertion required for a half-mile walk." The giving of blood takes from 7 to 15 minutes. To help replenish fluids, donors will be served refreshments afterwards.

For more information, donors may contact SEMC at 798-3028 or call the Public Relations Department at 798-3167.

BURGULARS TAKE ITEMS FROM VENICE APARTMENT

Missing were a 25-inch color TV console, two cameras, a steam iron, records and tapes, a diamond pendant necklace and two pieces of soft leather luggage.

Budget amendment grants Venice firemen pay hike

By VALERIE EVENED
of the Press-Record

An oversight in the 1984-85 Venice appropriation ordinance which omitted raises for members of the Venice Fire Department was rectified at Tuesday night's city council session.

On a recommendation by Third Ward Alderman John Ervin, chairman of the Police and Fire Committee, City Attorney Lawrence Hartman was instructed to prepare an amendment to the annual ordinance to include pay increases for fire department members.

VENICE MAYOR Tyrone Echols first brought the matter to the council's attention by commenting, "With all due respect to the firemen, they do a tremendous job and we don't want to be discriminating and purposely leave them out."

"There is no problem amending the ordinance, but, of course, that has to be your decision," he reminded the council. Unanimous approval of the budget amendment followed.

All other city employees of Venice were granted a long-awaited pay increase with passage of the new fiscal appropriation ordinance on July 10.

THE BUDGET included raises of $100 a month for all city employees. The previous raise was granted seven years earlier.

The $100-per-month increase approximates a 58-cent hourly raise and the same figure will be used to upgrade the firefighters' pay schedule, thereby increasing the budget by $5,600.

Precise amounts were not available Tuesday night, but it was noted for answering a fire call, a volunteer fireman will now receive $10, rather than $9 per call.

THE FIRE TRUCK driver, the only full-time city employee in the department, currently makes $196 a month and will be upgraded $100 monthly.

Prorated amounts will be added to the fire chief's pay, now amounting to $70 monthly, and the assistant fire chief's pay at a monthly rate of $382. The latter figures were itemized in the recently approved budget.

A total of 108 hours each week also must be covered for the fire truck driver during his regular off-duty hours, it was noted.

FIRST WARD Alderman Philip Daniels, a volunteer fireman, noted the number of fires in Venice has decreased by nearly 100 percent in the last 10 years.

"There used to be 200 fires a year and are down to about 100, so our operating budget has decreased over the past several years," he said.

In a report to council members, Police Chief Farris Smith said 94 adults (74 men and 20 women) and 10 juveniles were arrested in June. Forty-five city ordinance violations and 28 city traffic violations accounted for a majority of the arrests, he reported.

A $2,400 CHECK representing fines collected during June was returned to the city, it was noted.

A small decrease in the number of vehicles using the McKinley Toll Bridge in Venice was noted in a report by Bridge Manager Tom Fields.

Vehicles using the bridge in July numbered 467,676, representing a daily average of 15,086 and a decrease of 69 vehicles compared to last July. A moderate decrease in traffic using the Venice bridge has been noted in the past few months.

MAYOR ECHOLS announced the South-Western Illinois Council of Mayors will meet Aug. 22 at Michael's Restaurant in Highland, with a hospitality hour starting at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m.

Ed Hagen, president of the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police, will address the mayors, commencing at 8 p.m.

A permit to construct a two-car garage at 121 Granville St., at an approximate cost of $5,000, was requested by Conrad Gardener and approved by the aldermen.

APPRECIATION to those attending the recent ribbon-cutting ceremony at the new Venice Senior Citizens' Community Center was expressed by Mayor Echols, who reported the contractor still is working on a few items inside the building, as well as completing work on the lawn and bushes.

A test for the position of police sergeant was scheduled at 7 o'clock last night, Chief Smith stated, responding to an inquiry from First Ward Alderman John Fleig.

Revise school staff's duties

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

In a busy session Tuesday night, the Granite City School Board revised administrators' duties, hired six teachers for 1984-85, permitted its former employees' relationship with a administrator to retire, ratified the June 30, 1985, retirement plan of Supt. Frank L. Kraus, and transferred Assistant Principal Kenneth E. Spaulding from Granite City High School to Coolidge Junior High.

Spaulding will continue to share evening supervisory duties with GCHS with Assistant Principals Fred "Pat" Schuman and Victor C. Buehler.

AT ADJACENT COOLIDGE

Spaulding will assist Principal Michael Sikora in daytime responsibilities. The former Coolidge assistant, Nancy Mast, has been promoted to Prather Elementary School principal.

GCHS assistant principals will change from 12-month to 10-month schedules in 1985-86.

In approving a new administrative organizational chart, the board expanded the work of Instructional Services Administrator W. Richard Brinkhoff, Personnel Administrator Terry M. Salemi, and Webster Elementary School Principal Warren D. Collins.

The chart and related job descriptions were approved on a voice vote with Board Member Dewey Melton.

SUPT. KRAUS said after the meeting that, although various administrators' workloads will be heavy, he plans to help shoulder some of their tasks.

All principals will report to Brinkhoff. In addition to coordinating the kindergarten through 12th grade curriculum, Brinkhoff will oversee the work of Chapter 1 Director Gary L. Friesen.

Salem is taking a bigger role in recommending appointments and assignments, based on his consultation with principals and other administrators.

SALEM HEADS the district's employee negotiations along with continuing his personnel responsibilities. Insurance Services Supervisor Karen Sedlar will report to him.

Collins, who has a 12-month assignment for 1984-85, is coordinating the updating of student transcript records this summer in cooperation with the microfilm staff of Madison County Recorder of Deeds Ronald Lucas.

He will continue to oversee services for gifted students. Along with his duties at Webster School, he will be "director of programs," reporting to Supt. Kraus.

Collins will conduct the 1985 summer school and, during 1984-85, will supervise the state textbook program.

REPORTING to Finance Director Norman S. Owca will be: Ronald Landman, director of buildings and grounds; Monte L. Kessler, director of data processing; Michael A. Kanak, director of food services.

and Marcella Pilcher, supervisor of accounting services.

Those duties will continue to oversee the student transportation program, one of his duties while he was assistant superintendent.

On a 6-0 vote, with Mrs. Kraus abstaining, the board hired five teachers from the list of those honorably dismissed, and employed Mrs. Almida Lehr-Well as a GCHS Spanish teacher.

THOSE REHIRED were Marilyn Perline, who will be a Frohardt second grade teacher; Mary Hemphill, as a GCHS business education teacher; Anita C. Speer, as a Grigsby Junior High behavioral disorders teacher; Judy Hampton for Coolidge Junior High library and language arts duties; and Stacey Granger as a GCHS teacher of or- theopically handicapped students.

Marilyn Perline was the only honorably dismissed teacher from Mr. Madson's 1984 dismissal list who had not yet been placed in a 1984-85 job.

Salem said the district is adhering to its practice of recalling the oldest, most qualified teacher for a given position.

The board's decision to hire an appraiser to oppose Granite City Steel's real estate assessment appeal was by a 6-0 margin, with Mofsky abstaining.

NEGOTIATIONS are resuming today on the terms of a contract for Local 743, American Federation of Teachers. There had been no meetings for the past month.

There was hope of completing the talks during the spring, for one of the earliest settlements in a number of years (except for the middle years of multi-year pacts). But determination of state aid and other financial factors, combined with employee and bond vacations led to a mid-summer lull in the bargaining.

All employee groups' existing agreements in Granite City District Nine expire this summer.

Negotiations have been held with some of the non-certificated employees but no final agreements have been reached.

THE DECISION to allow Harold E. Hillmer, employee relations administrator, to retire retroactive to June 30 was approved on a 5-2 vote, with Pres. David Partney and Treas. Kelly Hogan opposed. Voting affirmatively were Sec. Thomas Mofsky, Monroe Worthen, Mrs. Ruth Lehr, Dewey Melton and Alan Crider.

Hillmer, who was dismissed by the board June 29 after 13 years of service, will now get four years of term life insurance, totaling $756 in premiums, and at age 65 will receive a paid-up $5,000 life insurance policy.

Harry A. Lang, an honorably dismissed teacher, resigned effective Aug. 1.

On a 6-0 vote, with Mrs. Kraus abstaining, the board hired five teachers from the list of those honorably dismissed, and employed Mrs. Almida Lehr-Well as a GCHS Spanish teacher.

THOSE REHIRED were Marilyn Perline, who will be a Frohardt second grade teacher; Mary Hemphill, as a GCHS business education teacher; Anita C. Speer, as a Grigsby Junior High behavioral disorders teacher; Judy Hampton for Coolidge Junior High library and language arts duties; and Stacey Granger as a GCHS teacher of or- theopically handicapped students.

Marilyn Perline was the only honorably dismissed teacher from Mr. Madson's 1984 dismissal list who had not yet been placed in a 1984-85 job.

Salem said the district is adhering to its practice of recalling the oldest, most qualified teacher for a given position.

The board's decision to hire an appraiser to oppose Granite City Steel's real estate assessment appeal was by a 6-0 margin, with Mofsky abstaining.

NEGOTIATIONS are resuming today on the terms of a contract for Local 743, American Federation of Teachers. There had been no meetings for the past month.

There was hope of completing the talks during the spring, for one of the earliest settlements in a number of years (except for the middle years of multi-year pacts). But determination of state aid and other financial factors, combined with employee and bond vacations led to a mid-summer lull in the bargaining.

All employee groups' existing agreements in Granite City District Nine expire this summer.

Negotiations have been held with some of the non-certificated employees but no final agreements have been reached.

Another I-255 contract awarded

Although work on the new Interstate 255 east of the Quad-City area has been temporarily halted by a construction strike, the state has awarded a contract for another portion of the work.

Haydon Construction Co. of Calumet was the successful bidder to construct two bridges carrying I-255 over Hardin Ditch near the northwest limits of Caseyville. The firm bid $2,671,320 for the work.

The contract was among 99 awarded by the Illinois Department of Transportation after bids were opened May 11 and June 29. Total value of the contracts is $51.9 million.

Also receiving a contract was Rite Electric Co. of Granite City, which bid $33,408 for modernization of traffic signals at two intersections, Route 111-140 and Fosterberg Road in Alton and Route 157 and the Interstate 55-70 North Junction in Collinsville.

G. McTeynolds Corp. of East St. Louis was the successful bidder for removing pavement and concrete replacement at various locations on Route 157 from Bunkum Road to Lake Drive south of Caseyville at a cost of $47,663.

The Kilian Corp. of Mascoutah received a $138,821 contract for construction of 0.35 of a mile of earth excavation, aggregate base bituminous materials, drainage and seeding on Meridian Road from four-tenths of a mile north of Interstate 270 to a mile north of I-270 in Glen Carbon.

Thiems Construction Co., Inc., of Edwardsville received a $194,705 contract to remove and replace the superstructure carrying Route 4 over Branch of Silver Creek and surface the approaches two miles east of Hamele.

The 1985 festival will be conducted at the Des Moines Marriott Hotel, Des Moines, Ia., July 25 through 28. Participants from the National School of Music were Jeff Held, Tammi Wickham, Chris Hoffstot, Mike Maier, Jeff Fedora and Billy Farer, all guitarists.

Charge driver with DUI, other offenses

An accident this week resulted in Wendell L. Tackett, 41, of 2805 Harding Blvd., being charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and other charges, following his arrest at home.

Cynthia L. Davidson, 19, of Granite City, was turning onto Jefferson Avenue from Harding Boulevard when a white auto struck her yellow Ford from the rear. The second driver then left the scene, she said.

Witnesses in the area alleged that a white vehicle, operated by a man, was driven recklessly down the street and had entered a garage, with the driver then closing the garage door.

After spotting a white car in the Tackett garage, an officer went to the dwelling, but those in the house allegedly denied any knowledge of an accident.

However, a woman opened the garage door, where a green over white Chevrolet inside allegedly had damage to the left front. Yellow paint transfer marks were visible on the vehicle, reports said.

Wendell Tackett reportedly was identified as the car driver and was arrested. He declined to discuss the accident and refused to answer when asked to take a breathalyzer test, reports alleged.

Tackett was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident and not having valid registration on the auto. He was released after posting a $102 cash bond.

Book S. Roxana man after GC incident
Robert A. Manning, 19, of South Roxana, was charged earlier this week with two counts of battery, criminal damage to property, resisting arrest and with not having a valid driver's license.

In a court appearance Monday, Manning pleaded innocent to the charges and bond was set at $502 cash. A mittimus was issued and he was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville at 5:10 p.m. Monday.

Initially, Manning's car allegedly struck a trash receptacle in the 1200 block of the Kirkpatrick Homes, bending the container and knocking it out of the ground, reports said. The driver said the mishap occurred when the vehicle's gears jumped into reverse.

While being escorted through a door at police headquarters, Manning allegedly kicked Sgt. David Polivick's legs and attempted to fight him and break loose. The officer reported being kicked four or five times in the legs and groin area.

During the same incident, Sgt. David Ruebhausen also alleged being kicked on the legs and chest. He sustained an injury to his right hand and a broken wrist watch band.

Manning was subsequently booked for battery.

DUI CHARGE AFTER CRASH
Ferdinand J. Schmidt, 61, of 4209 Kirkpatrick Homes was arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol and driving with a revoked license at 10:50 p.m. Monday in a parking lot at 2526 Nameoki Road. It was alleged his car collided with the parked auto of Mathew Heinrich of Fairview Heights.

Theft cited in prison sentence of 3 years

A three-year state prison term has been ordered by Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. for James Noblin, 21, of 102 Roosevelt Drive, Eagle Park Acres.

Noblin was charged this year with a felony theft occurring in Granite City. Sentencing followed a guilty plea submitted in July.

Noblin in 1980 was sentenced to two years on probation and 90 days in jail for a Dec. 24, 1979, burglary.

community support my position, and urge that they publicly say so or state why they do not." Schuler concluded.

Signed and notarized petitions must be turned in at the school board office by Saturday. This week, the school board voted to keep the board office at 20th and Adams streets open Saturday from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to receive petitions. Board secretary Tom Morsky will be on hand from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday for those who wish to give the petition to him personally.

Primary organizers of the petition drive are Nameoki Township Tax Collector Norm Hall and Precinct Committee Chairman Helen Hawkins. Hall is predicting the petition drive will be successful and the bond issue will be put before the voters in the November election.

Mrs. Hawkins said she is concerned that many of the signatures collected for her will be thrown out by the school board since the persons circulating the petitions failed to have them notarized, as required by law.

SHE SAID anyone who turned in a petition which had not been notarized should contact her, retrieve the petition and take it to the township hall, 3230 Highway 162, to be notarized. The town hall will have someone available from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. today and tomorrow to notarize petitions.

The petitions are necessary to call a referendum because the school board called for a "back door" referendum, which would impose the tax automatically unless 10 percent of the registered voters signed petitions calling for a referendum. A similar back-door referendum was used successfully in issuing the bonds for the new county sewer system. Areas which were successful in obtaining signatures of 10 percent of the registered voters, were dropped from the sewer plan, rather than to have a referendum.

Club sponsors, department heads, coordinators named

Sonya Adkerson will continue as guidance coordinator and Donald Shaffner will continue as cooperative work training coordinator of the Granite City school district.

A list of extracurricular assignments for 1984-85, approved at Tuesday night's Board of Education meeting, also included Granite City High School department heads:

Art: Ann Hich, business: Joseph Hanson, driver education: Ronald Dillard, English department head: Cynthia Hornell, foreign languages: John Sellmeyer, home economics: Mildred Collins, mathematics: Russell Chappell, physical education: Darlene Wenner, science and health: Harold Gebhardt, social studies: Philip Shatto, speech: Ronald Pennell and vocational education and industrial arts: Gary Morgan.

Hanson also will be chief ticket taker for GCIS events.

Counselors will include John Haug, Sandra Kopsky, Roy Conkey and Albert Rowden at GCIS, Carol Hornback at Coolidge Junior High School and Jon Mullen at Grigsby Junior High.

Among club sponsors will be: Journalism: Mary Johnson, student council: Steve Hamilton, yearbook: Robert Johnson, future secretaries: Linda Haddox, foreign language club: Dennis Church, modern music masters: Dale Ashmore and Richard Bertacchi, National Honor Society: Andrew Yurko and Mary Perdue-Tapp, photography: Dee-Mana Spudich.

located in the Venice Recreation Center, 323 Broadway, the McKinley Bridge Office, 820 Main St., and the lower floor of the Venice City Hall at Klein and Broadway.

Persons wishing to use the shelters, especially overnight, are being asked to first call the Venice Police Department at 877-2114 for additional information.

"We will try to do what we can to help people," Honorable said, again stressing that those needing overnight accommodation must first notify police in order to ensure the availability of cots.

OVERNIGHT SHELTERS will be established in the Venice City Hall and McKinley Bridge office, both of which operate on a 24-hour basis and afford conditions more easily supervised.

Cots and mattresses will be provided, but individuals should bring their own blankets, sheets and pillows, he said.

Families with children should bring snacks, toys and games. Diapers for infants and other "necessary items" also must be provided by the parents.

Persons on medication are reminded to bring their own medicine. Families planning to leave their homes for an extended period of time also are cautioned to secure the dwelling against intruders.

Shelters

NO FOOD SERVICE is available at the heat relief shelters, so those using the facilities are required to bring their own food supplies, Honorable advised.

Virtually the same rules apply in the operation of the Salvation Army heat shelter, where persons wishing to spend the night are required to make advance arrangements by calling 437-7827, Capt. Poling said. Personal bed linens also must be furnished by the individual, he added.

At the July 24 meeting of the Venice City Council, the Rev. John Henry Williams, pastor of New Salem Baptist Church, Venice, appealed to the aldermen to help persons without fans or lights in their homes.

At that time, the minister reported many people in the community were suffering from the extreme heat because of a lack of electricity to operate fans or other cooling devices.

"Many families are too embarrassed to come forward because their electricity has been turned off," Rev. Williams stated.

Shriners aid burned boy

To Elizabeth Dew, of 4052 Kathy Drive, Apt. 2, the Shriners of the Aina Temple mean peace of mind. To her 3-year-old son, Benjamin, the Shriners mean a new lease on life.

Benjamin is now a patient at the Shrine Burn Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio, following some quick and generous action by local Shriners, according to his mother.

Mrs. Dew told the Press-Record that her son suffered second and third degree burns to his legs when he fell into a barbecue pit while playing at Horseshoe Lake State Park July 26. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

When local Shriners learned of the accident, they promptly flew Mrs. Dew and her son to the Cincinnati burn unit. Once there, doctors performed surgery to graft healthy skin over the burned skin on his legs.

Mrs. Dew said Wednesday that her son is in stable condition, but has been admitted to the intensive care unit because he suffered an asthma attack after the surgery.

"I really thought my boy was hurt badly until we brought him here," she said. "I was mad and I was saying some pretty nasty things. But everyone has been so nice and so good through all of this. I would like to thank them all."

In addition to the free care for her son, the Shriners have provided Mrs. Dew with free board, including, money for meals.

County Demos to host cocktail party at State Fair Aug. 16

Thursday, Aug. 16, has been designated as "Democrat Day" in Springfield, Illinois, to coincide with the State Fair, which begins today.

Democrats will be gathering from all over the state to attend the "Democrat Day" cocktail party which is annually sponsored by the Madison County Democrat Central Committee and which, over the years, has become one of the highlights of the fair on this particular day. The cocktail party will be held, as it has in the past, at the Springfield Hilton.

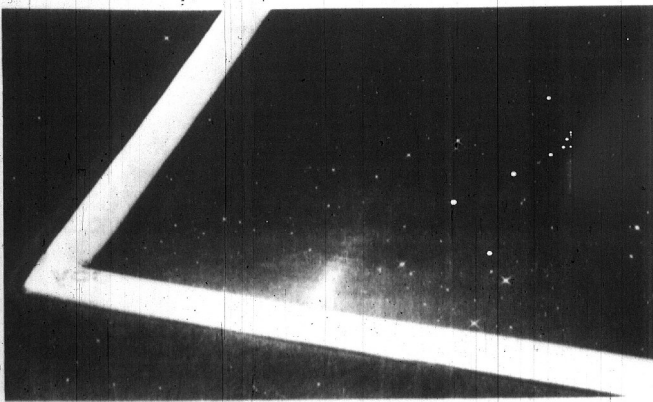

Political figures, from not only the state of Illinois, but all over the country, will make up the estimated crowd of anywhere from 1,100 to 1,400.

The Jay James Orchestra will entertain from 5 to 9 p.m. Tickets are $10 each and may be obtained from precinct committeemen or County Chairman Mac Warfield of Granite City. No food is to be served, but liquid refreshments will be available.

This year's event promises to be equally as successful as those in the past, especially with a presidential election coming up in November. National dignitaries will be on hand along with state and local office holders, shaking hands, and ready to discuss issues either on an individual basis or with select small groups, a spokesman said.

For those who plan to stay over until the next day, reservations should be made as soon as possible either with the Hilton direct or through a Democratic representative.

METALLIC 'RAIN' IN EAST GRANITE. Metallic particles, the focus of complaints of residents in the East Granite area, dot the back window of a car in the 2200 block of Lee Avenue last week. The source of the particle emissions, believed by some of the residents to be Granite City Steel, which is only two blocks away from this location, is being investigated by plant personnel. The particles shown were found to be magnetic, indicating some iron content.

Convictions

included mail fraud, wire fraud and deception.

Massa and Skinner received 20- and 12-year sentences, respectively, and were fined. In considering Skinner's appeal, the court reversed his conviction on transporting forged securities in interstate commerce.

MASSA CONTENDED in his defense that he had been misled, and said statements by Brimberry, who did not testify at the trial, should not have been accepted as evidence.

The appeals court disagreed, noting that documents and stipulations showed millions of dollars worth of stocks in Massa's accounts were fraudulent, that Massa obtained $2.3 million while investing $60,000, and that he used money withdrawn from margin accounts to buy controlling interest.

"This documentary evidence, together with testimony linking Massa to the fraudulent subordinated loans, satisfies the preponderance of evidence standard," the court asserted.

IT SAID MASSA warned Stix & Co. officers to follow Brimberry's orders or be fired, and then asked Brimberry to "fire the auditors" when it appeared they were on the verge of discovering fraud.

Regarding Skinner, the court said the partial reversal was justified because "forged endorsements on otherwise valid securities do not make the instruments themselves forged securities."

"We agree with the government, however, that the proof offered on those counts was not prejudicial and does not require the reversal of any of Skinner's other counts."

HIS FINE is being reduced from $22,000 to $18,000, the reversals do not affect his prison term. Massa was fined $45,000.

Both Skinner and Massa are free on bond. They have 21 days to ask for a rehearing or begin serving their sentences.

Raises

percent increase and paramedics will be given 12 percent more.

Jim Strack, president of the Firefighters' Local 253, told the Press-Record Wednesday that the firefighters have ratified their contract. He said the group met at 7:30 yesterday morning and agreed to the offer by a unanimous vote.

HE SAID the pay raise would affect 42 firefighters and 13 EMTs and paramedics. "I'm happy with the agreement," he said. "I'd rather settle it over the table with the city fathers than go to arbitration."

Strack contended his union was forced to ask for binding arbitration because the city's negotiating committee "wouldn't even talk" to the firefighters' union. He said a break in the relations had occurred in June and that the city and his union had met weekly since that time.

Strack said a release of the city's financial condition had assured his group that the city had the available funds for the pay hike.

POLICE DETECTIVE Kip Pomeroy, president of AFSCME Local 1347, said his group met at 4 p.m. Wednesday and also ratified their contract. Pomeroy said that, although his group did not approve the measure by a unanimous vote, there were no nay votes.

"I'm satisfied with it," Pomeroy said of the contract. "I feel it was something reasonable for all sides. I am very happy that we were able to reach an equitable agreement without outside arbitration."

Although the policemen's contract holds a "me too" clause for city hall workers, Negotiating Committee member Stephen Saltich said this group is not included in the pay raises passed Tuesday.

SALTICH SAID the city hall workers' contract will have to be worked out separately. He said no meetings have been scheduled as of yet to proceed on the contract.

Saltich also said that negotiations still are pending with members of the street department, the Laborers' Union, the Teamsters' Union and the sewage treatment plant workers. He said talks with the sewage treatment plant workers have been scheduled for this week.

The action to award the pay increases to policemen and firefighters came after a 30-minute, mid-meeting caucus by the negotiating committee.

THERE WAS ONLY one comment made after the caucus. Alderman Casmer Skubish told council members that he feels the city should set a guideline for salaries, similar to the one that is used by the U.S. Labor Organization.

"I think we possibly do owe our workers an increase in pay," he said. "But we need to hold a line on our spending so we can keep pace with our revenues."

Those voting in favor of the two motions were Aldermen Everett Morlen, Casmer Skubish, Sam Whitmer, Fred "Pat" Schuman, Carl Kittel, Phillip Miller, Lloyd Bailey, Woodrow "Woody" Moad, Stephen Saltich, Michael Modrusis and Paul Ray Bowler.

THOSE VOTING against the raises were Aldermen Sharon Perjak and Jake Varadian. Alderman Paul Fisk was on vacation.

Some state employees will receive new credit cards

In a move to promote accountability and prompt payment for state employee travel expenses, the state of Illinois has accepted a proposal by Diners Club, Inc., to provide corporate credit-card privileges to state agencies and employees who must travel on official business.

Proposals were solicited from credit-card companies by the Department of Central Management Services and the Governor's Travel Control Board. The credit cards will be provided and serviced at no cost to the state.

"This is an opportunity to improve state operations and promote cost control without the overhead expenses normally required to do so," said Louis Giordano, director of the Department of Central Management Services.

The credit-card program will be instituted on a trial basis in selected agencies. Ultimately, up to 10,000 cards with annual billings of $8 million could be issued to the state. Two options, individual and agency billed accounts, are available under the Diners Club's successful proposal.

LIFTOFF FROM SEMC. An Illinois Department of Transportation helicopter takes off from the parking lot of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center late last week, transporting a newborn infant from the local medical facility to St. John's Hospital in Springfield, Ill. Details surrounding the transfer of the baby are not being released, but the late afternoon landing of the helicopter in the Washington Avenue parking lot, adjacent to the main lobby, did draw much attention from patients and staff at the medical center, as well as from nearby residents. ## High court upholds ruling overturning dioxin judgment

The Illinois Supreme Court Tuesday upheld a lower court's reversal of a $58 million judgment granted in Granite City to 47 employees of the Norfolk and Western Railway Co.

The case stemmed from illnesses and deformities to workers who helped clean up a dioxin spill in Sturgeon, Mo., after a 1979 derailment and tank car rupture. The trial was conducted before Madison County Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman in Edwardsville.

The Supreme Court upheld, without comment, the findings of the Fourth District Appellate Court. That court overturned the judgments for the workers, saying that Judge Chapman made some errors, including allowing the trial to be conducted in Madison County, which was not a convenient forum for those involved. The trial lasted four months.

The appeals court also found that Judge Chapman erred in the dismissal of jurors, in consolidating the 47 lawsuits into one trial and in other ways.

GC Township tax levy, budget approved

A tax levy that is estimated to be $20,000 higher than last year's levy, was passed by members of the Granite City Township Board Tuesday night. (Since the city and the township are co-extensive, the city's aldermen also serve as the township board of trustees.)

The $549,000 levy (the money is to be raised by taxation) shows an increase in two items, with other line items remaining the same as they were last year.

Items increased include home relief, which raised $6,000, and the township's share for employees covered by Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, which increased $14,000. The levy supports the 1984-85 township budget, which includes pay increases equaling more than seven percent for the chief deputy assessor, the clerk and the real estate deputies in the assessor's office.

The levy totals approximately $1 million, including federal revenue sharing, town fund, general assistance and municipal retirement. The total without revenue sharing is $845,576.

Capital expenditures which are to be funded with revenue sharing include a new garage for township vehicles and social services for senior citizens, including $500 for the telephone, $7,500 for insurance on transportation vans, $3,000 for maintenance on the vans, $1,000 for gas and oil for the vans and $7,000 for the Senior Aides program.

The revenue sharing fund also includes $60,000 for a general assistance fund for the needy.

Amounts appropriated for the town officers' salaries remain the same as last year, with the budget showing a nearly $3,000 decrease for the town collectors' expenses.

The assessor's expenses show a $15,000 increase despite a withdrawal from the budget of the assessor's travel expense ($1,200).

The biggest increase came under salaries for the chief deputy assessor, clerks and real estate deputies, which mark a raise of $14,000 from last year.

According to the levy, the township predicts a balance of $54,048 at the end of the 1984-85 year.

A public hearing was conducted on the township budget and the proposed use of the federal revenue sharing fund prior to the township meeting Tuesday night, but no residents attended.

Before the budget was passed, Alderman Sam Whitmer told town board members that he is not in favor of the budget because of the pay increases involved.

The budget was, however, passed unanimously.

SLASHED WITH SCISSORS

Jimmie D. Cargill Jr., 43, of 900 Niedringhaus Ave., was arrested there last week for aggravated battery, battery and resisting arrest. It was alleged that he used scissors to slash at his landlord, Jim Merchoff, inflicting several cuts on the left hand.

Plan kidnap trial in area

Plans have been made to conduct a kidnapping trial in Madison County related to the August 1982 abduction of Dr. and Mrs. Hector Zevallos. Defendants are to be Don Benny Anderson, 43, Matthew Moore, 21, and Wayne Moore, 20, all currently serving prison sentences for carrying the abduction. No state line was crossed, and the federal charge against them was obstructing interstate commerce through threats or violence.

Arrested three months later, the trio was assigned to the federal court at Alton. Anderson being convicted and the Moore brothers pleading guilty.

Sentenced to 30 years in prison, Anderson is in custody in Wisconsin. The Moores are imprisoned in Colorado, Matthew on an eight-year sentence and Wayne on an indeterminate sentence of up to four years.

Madison County indictments allege kidnapping and armed robbery.

The Zevalloses, who were divorced last week in Florida, were taken from their home and released eight days later after being kept in a former ammunition bunker south of Springfield.

The anti-abortion trio threatened the couple with death unless President Ronald Reagan issued a pardon and also ordered an end to abortions. Operator of the Hope Clinic in Granite City, the doctor was urged by the abductors to stop performing abortions.

If convicted in this county, the three could receive additional and even longer sentences than those they are now serving.

Amendment provides $7.5 million a year for the Kilgas project

The Senate Appropriations Committee last week at the request of Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.), adopted an amendment to provide assistance to the KILGAS synthetic-fuel facility in East Alton, Illinois. The amendment to the Interior Appropriations Bill would provide $7.5 million annually on a matching basis for two years to assist in the continued operation of the project. "I applaud the committee for solidly backing the KILGAS facility," Percy said. "We cannot afford to put this kind of technology on the back burner while we iron out the problems with the Synthetic Fuel Corporation. The KILGAS project is not only worthwhile technological ly, but it combines private, state and federal support as an outstanding example of the type of partnership that is needed to move similar projects forward." In 1979, Alton's Chalmers Corporation, a consortium of 12 utilities, and the State of Illinois, agreed to build and test the KILGAS facility—a plant designed to turn Illinois coal into gaseous fuel. Since then, the project sponsors have been seeking operating assistance from the Synthetic Fuels Corporation (SFC). However, because the SFC's operations have ground to a halt over funding and mission disagreements between the administration and Congress, Percy sought the federal assistance provided by the committee to keep the project going over the next two years. To date, more than $138 million has been invested in the project by the private sector. Percy commended the project sponsors for "successfully designing and bringing to operation this technology in an environmentally sound manner." He added, "This project is a forceful response to the national needs cited in the Emergency Security Act." When fully operational, the KILGAS facility is designed to process 600 tons a day of Illinois No. 6 coal, producing approximately 400 million BTUs per hour of gaseous fuel which will be burned in the Illinois Power Company Wood River #3 unit to generate electricity.

8 agencies may join steel plant value fight

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Eight local governmental bodies may join in hiring William J. Townsley to appraise Granite City Steel.

They are the city, school system, park district and township of Granite City, the Madison County government, the Metro East Sanitary District, Nameoki Township and Belleville Area College.

WITH GC STEEL opposing four-fifths of its present real estate taxes, the school district has sought to delay a state appeal hearing this fall until Feb. 1, allowing time for an in-depth appraisal to be made.

Townsley of Real Estate Analysis Corp. of Chicago was hired Tuesday night by the Board of Education, which approved a detailed agreement outlining his work.

Attorney William Schooley now will contact the other taxing agencies to seek their participation. Each would pay a proportional amount of the cost, based on its share of the steel plant's taxes for 1982 (1983 collection).

Overall cost of the appraisal will not exceed $225,000.

THE HOURLY FEE schedules are $125 for the work of one individual, $100 for another, $75 each for two others, $60 for a fifth person and $50 each for two others.

All travel expenses related to the appraisal will be in addition to the hourly rates. Billing is planned every two weeks.

The Real Estate Analysis Corp. staff will prepare a full narrative appraisal on the four million square foot property, which REAC said includes an integrated steel mill with two blast furnaces and about two million tons of rolling capacity.

TOWNSLEY RELATED, "The rates quoted include all the support personnel and office overhead required to complete this assignment. Our fee will be based on the number of hours expended, the appropriate hourly rate, and any related travel expenses.

"In the event that an assessment settlement is reached between the taxpayer and the city-township, and we are notified to cease work on the appraisal, our fee will be based on the amount of time and expense expended up to that point in time."

Granite City Steel is paying its real estate taxes as set by the Madison County Board of Review but is appealing them to the Illinois Property Tax Appeal Board. The taxing bodies believe it is essential to have their own appraisal to counter the estimated values presented by the industry.

THE LOCAL DIVISION of National Intergroup's steel group says much corporate personal property is being assessed as real estate instead of personal property. It adds that it is seeking a valuation based on methods similar to those used at other steel plants in the nation.

The issue being defended by Townsley is the plant's assessment for the 1983 tax year, affecting taxes payable in 1984. The appraisal also could be used as evidence for future years.

A certified Illinois assessing officer and a licensed real estate broker, Townsley is a member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, Society of Real Estate Appraisers and International Association of Assessing Officers.

HE IS PAST CHIEF of the Office of Financial Affairs of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, responsible for all state-level property tax functions.

Townsley also served as the department's appraisal administrator and as chief of real estate for the Cook County assessor's office. He owned and operated a lumber company, was active in real estate development, and was a general contractor in residential, commercial and light industrial work.

Among many other assignments, he has appraised the U.S. Steel Company's South Works in Chicago.

An author in varied appraisal fields, he has conducted many seminars and was responsible for the 1976 version of the Illinois real property appraisal manual.

For Cards' Game Aug. 17 GC Night tickets are still available

Granite Cityans will have two opportunities to honor one of its favorite sons, Dal Maxvill, on Friday, Aug. 17.

In addition to Granite City Community Night at Busch Stadium, which has already been slated for that evening, Granite Cityans will be able to attend a luncheon that afternoon for Maxvill at Charlie's Restaurant. Tickets for both outings are available at Mark Goldenberg's office located in the Sam Wolf building, and at the Press-Record Sports Desk.

Maxvill, a member of the St. Louis baseball Cardinals' World Series teams in 1964 and 1967 and now coach with the Atlanta Braves, will be in St. Louis as the Braves begin a three-game series with the Redbirds.

Maxvill, who grew up and played Little League baseball in Granite City, is perhaps best known by Cardinal fans for his clutch hit in the seventh game of the '67 World Series which sparked the Redbirds to a Series victory over the Boston Red Sox.

In addition to the two World Series that Maxie spent with the Cardinals, he was later traded to the Oakland Athletics of the American League and went on to shine for A's during their heyday in the early '70's.

Tickets for the luncheon are $20. Proceeds from the Aug. 17 Dal Maxvill Luncheon will benefit the Granite City Park District Youth Baseball Leagues.

Incidentally, tickets to both the luncheon and the baseball game may be purchased at the Wilson Park office during business hours. In addition, the park is offering bus transportation to the ball game for $4.

Persons seeking further information about either the luncheon or the Granite City Community Night at Busch Stadium should contact Goldenberg at 877-0088 or the Press-Record Sports Desk at 876-2000.

A Sports Special

Southwest Tennis League got the jump on WCT

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

The Southwest Illinois Tennis Doubles League got the jump on World Team Tennis competition by at least 20 years.

In early 1954, several Granite City tennis players who were interested in adding an extra bit of spice to their normal games met at the home of John Pender and organized a league in which the cities in the group would play each other a regular schedule of matches on Sundays throughout the season.

Pender, who is now a broker and financial advisor in the Chicago area, was a better than average weekend player and, in addition, went out of his way to discover young talent and encourage them to develop their skills.

Two of the best, which came readily to mind, were Ron Underwood and Dave Moss. Underwood, a strong and big player, starred at Murray State U. in Kentucky and, finally decided to make his home in the Bluegrass town.

Moss, who starred as a member of the Green Wave tennis team at Tulane U. in New Orleans, lives here in Granite City.

At that original meeting at Pender's home, it was decided to invite towns in the area to become a part of the Southwest Illinois Tennis Doubles League. Accepting membership in the loop early in 1954 were teams from Granite City, East St. Louis, Alton, Belleville and Roxana-Wood River.

There was one basic difference between the local group and Lamar Hunt's WCT outfit: The Southwest Illinois Tennis Doubles League restricted itself, as the name implies, to partnership tennis. The WCT group played both singles and doubles.

The organizing group in Granite City, after issuing a call for volunteers to play on its teams, had a fine response. After challenge matches, seven players were picked to represent Granite City. The most frequent doubles teams' pairings were Al Malottki and George Vogeler, Don Harmon and Bob Edmonds and Jerry Gruen and Phil Conreux. The seventh player and alternate was Rancis Herman, who died in 1983 in San Diego, Calif., as an engineer.

The league lasted two years, 1954 and 1955, and Granite City won the championship trophy both seasons. As mentioned, competition was held each Sunday, starting at 1 p.m. Each team named its No. 1, 2 and 3 guys and the ones played the Ones, the Twos the Twos and the Threes the Threes.

Each match was the best two-out-of-three sets.

Matches were played in Granite City at the high school courts, East St. Louis at the Jones Park courts; Edwardsville at the Tigers' high school; Alton at the old St. Charles College courts; the Wood River matches at the Roxana courts and Belleville at what is now West High.

In 1954 and '55, the game of tennis was "still a gentlemen's game" and the rules were strict. The players on each doubles team "called" all shots and no lineamen were ever required or used. Whites were a "must".

The home team furnished the tennis balls. And, while there are no statistics available, Granite City, as already noted, won both years, but breathing down their necks each season were the East St. Louis and Belleville clubs.

Norman Dean, a teaching pro at a tennis club in Belleville, was a prime mover in the league and the ace of the East St. Louis team. Players on the East Side team were: Norman Dean, Tom Shanklin, Bill Black, Paul Kinnaman and Gerry Bielicke, now an insurance man in Edwardsville and one of the area's best baseball umpires.

"Our alternate," said Dean, "was an outstanding woman player, Dorothy Clayton, nee Omelison. She was a strong net player and her game was excellent for doubles."

In researching for the story of the league, retired teacher Walter Klein, one of the area's all-time tennis players was questioned. He was asked to name the area's best players down through the years. He accepted and agreed to list them if he didn't have to rank them. "That would be too tough," he begged off.

"We played our early tennis on a court opposite to where the Y.M.C.A. is now and at a site where St. Joseph Church is now. The courts at Wilson Park were built as a W.P.A. project back in the Depression days. In fact, I had the job for several summers of maintaining the clay courts there. Each morning, my helpers and I would drag and smooth the courts, water them down and then roll them and eventually, line them," Klein explained.

Among the earlier standout players listed by Klein were: Norman Wendell, whose father operated a bakery here in town; Billie Bunte, nee Benson, from St. Louis' O'Fallon Park; Jim Lynch and Carol Boggs. Louie Mehl, Junior Host, Cotton Keith, Red Kinsling, and most interesting, an English couple from Leeds, England, a Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harris, who worked at Granite Steel, in the early '30's. Then there were Dick and Cliff Byers, the Hilmer's, Bill and Ken, Maryanne Mueller, and the McGraven brothers, Tom and Don.

Two of the older—and best—were William Bieh, a cashier at Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, and Bill Holst, a chemistry teacher at Granite City High. Biel and Holst were the dominant players in the mid-twenties here in the Tri-Cities. Another great player of the period was Frank Heiler, a foreman at American Steel.

One of the best players in southwestern Illinois was Belleville's Elmer Hirth who went on to become a legend in St. Louis tennis circles.

In attempting to list the area's best all-time players, Klein, stressed time and time again, "The period from 1950 on until the present, I'm afraid, since an injury to my leg kept me off the courts, I've simply failed to keep up with the newer players. For example, that group after Bill (Barrel Head) Harrison and his teammates in the mid '30's that came forward under the coaching of Dick Harmon, certainly can't be ignored."

At Tuesday's Board Meeting McClain named cross country coach

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Prior to Tuesday night's Unit Nine School Board meeting, all but one head varsity coaching position for this fall's Granite City High School sports season had been filled—that vacancy being in cross country.

During its meeting Tuesday, the board filled that final vacancy as it approved the collective recommendation of Joe Fedora, administrative assistant to athletics and physical education, Gilbert Walmesley, GCHS principal, and Terry Salem, administrative assistant-personnel, to hire Dave McClain to the post.

McClain, 36, a teacher and coach in the district for 15 years, fills the vacancy left by Pete Robinson who resigned his post this spring to accept a teaching-coaching position in Nebraska.

McClain, who teaches biology and physical science at Granite City High, has formerly served the district as Granite City High School South's head track coach in 1982 in addition to an assistant football coach prior to that.

On vacation on the west coast, McClain was unavailable for comment following his appointment to the position.

"We feel Dave's a fine choice for a cross-country coach," Fedora said. "He's a proven coach and we feel he's very qualified for the position."

In addition to the hiring of McClain Tuesday, the board also approved the hiring of two assistant football coaches.

SLATED to assist head coach Ron Yates, the board also approved the hiring of Robert Cowan and Al Lewis, Jr. to round out the high school football coaching staff.

Cowan, 35, is a former district teacher and coach, and was honorably dismissed in 1982 due to budget cutbacks. Before his dismissal, Cowan taught biology and assisted in both the Warrior and Steeler baseball programs.

Lewis, who's currently teaching at Grigsby Junior High, is beginning his 20th season with the district. A physical education and health teacher at the junior high school, Lewis coached the Gators' volleyball and track teams last year.

FORMERLY an athletic coordinator at Prather Junior High School, Lewis, now 41, will assist Yates in the sophomore football program as a line coach.

Since accepting the football coach's position, he will, naturally, resign his volleyball coaching duties at Grigsby.

"It'll be a challenge," Lewis said Wednesday. "It'll be nice. I'm looking forward to a new challenge," Lewis said.

The board's most recent hirings fill all the coaching vacancies at the high school, and leaves just three vacancies—head football and volleyball coach at Coolidge Junior High and head volleyball coach at Grigsby—in the district to be filled before school begins Aug. 28.

Fedora said he hopes to find coaches to fill those positions by the board's Aug. 21 meeting.

Races begin Saturday Seebold among Grand Prix entrants

ST. LOUIS — The 13th annual St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix powerboat races on the Meramec River and Lake in Fenton's George Winter County Park will be held Aug. 10-12.

Former Granite Cityan and world champion Bill Seebold is expected to be among the competitors vying for championship honors as competition begins Saturday morning.

Outboard powerboat racers from throughout the United States and several foreign countries travel to the St. Louis County race site for the weekend competition in four classes sanctioned by the American Powerboat Association, the National Powerboat Association and the Union of International Motorboating. The four competition categories are the APBA Class Sport E, Mod-V-P, Formula 100 and World Formula I (Champ Boats). Racers compete for nearly $35,000 in prize money, with the Busch Cup going to the winner of the Formula I class after a timed, one-hour marathon final on Sunday, Aug. 12.

Trophies will be presented to the top three finishers in all other classes. The races are conducted and sponsored each year by the Concord Village Lions Club in conjunction with the St. Louis County Parks.

Proceeds from the weekend event go to the charitable and community service projects of the Lions Club. The St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix has become one of the mainstays of an active St. Louis area sports schedule. Each year an average of 25,000 spectators gather in George Winter County Park for the Saturday-Sunday competition. Nearly 50,000 spectators attended the event a year ago.

A four-turn course is laid out on the Meramec Lake section of the Meramec River at George Winter County Park, with spectator viewing located on the west side of the lake near the pavilion. The site is ideal for spectator viewing, especially the explosive race starts from the dock immediately in front of the main spectator viewing area.

Following testing and pre-race inspection on Friday, Aug. 10, and again on Saturday, Aug. 11 beginning at 8 a.m., opening ceremonies will kick off the 13th annual St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix at 11:30 a.m. Saturday. Seven competition heats in the Sport E, Formula 100 and Mod-V-P classes will be contested Saturday, with the final heat beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Boosters: A GCHS team whose goal is support

Money and sports. Those three words when mentioned together immediately conjure up thoughts of big league, major league athletes receiving millions of dollars for their contributions to a team or individual sport.

That seems to be the trend in sports. And whether major league salaries will ever stabilize no one knows. Thus far it doesn't appear so.

Take those three words again, but this time add another word before the word "sports." Insert the word amateur.

Money and amateur sports. That gives the phrase a whole new meaning — one not as lucrative as the first. At least in this country, an amateur athlete is someone who competes for the "love of the game." Someone who generally receives little, if any, monetary reward for competing.

High school athletes are amateur athletes. Outside of tax support and gate receipts from their contests, which they never receive, little money is ever generated. Sports are experienced for the benefits and learning processes which result from the exposure on the playing field — an extension of the classroom.

But, with the increasing costs of equipment and dwindling tax monies, some

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenacker

people advocate a pay-for-play type system. A system where athletes pay for their athletic uniforms, gear etc.

High school sports in Granite City has not turned to that, and judging by the efforts of the Granite City High School Warrior Booster Club, it may never have to.

What many people don't know about the Booster Club is that, in essence, it is offering an alternative to the pay-for-play system. It's raising money for Warrior sports programs so everyone can compete, regardless if they have the money to pay for his or her uniform. And that's the way it should be.

For the 1983-84 school year, the Booster Club and its affiliated parent clubs, has raised money for 15 new boys' basketball warmups, 30 girls' basketball uniforms and 30 boys' basketball jerseys. Those contributions plus the alterations to those new uniforms came to $300.65. And they didn't stop there.

Add to that $337 for new baseball uniforms, $300 for new Warrior golf shirts and sweaters, another $300 to the Red Peppers, $500 by the Pom Pom Parents Association towards new uniforms, and $150 worth of ads for the Holiday and Sectional Wrestling Tournaments brings the organization's contributions to the Warrior sports programs to $2,647.65 as of June 1 when school closed for the summer.

But that's still not all. The Boosters have also approved contributions for new soccer warmups ($1,500), as well as allocated money to the tennis and baseball teams totalling $300 and $600 respectively.

Totalling all of the above, including the pending purchases, the Boosters have contributed $5,047.65 for the 1983-84 school year. And those figures don't even include the funds donated for the seasonal sports banquets.

The Boosters are the people, mostly parents, behind the scenes. They're not in the limelight when their teams win, nor do they wish to be. They're simply interested in helping Granite City High field the best dressed, best equipped sports, marching band and pom pom teams possible. They deserve the support of all the athletes they support and the community they help represent every time a GCHS team takes to the field.

Booster officers for the coming 1984-85 year include: Boyd Presley, president; Zola Burgess, first vice president; Terry Dulko, second vice president; B. J. Lilley, secretary, and Carolyn Menendez, treasurer.

Candy Carden and Sandy Lane are chairmen of the membership committee. Zola Burgess is chairman of the Add Book committee; Ed Goclan and Harvey Cathey are chairmen of the Chili Supper; Larry Stone and Rich Houston are chairmen of the barbecue stand; Harry Cook and Cookie Adamitis are chairmen of social events; Charles Mosby is chairman of publicity signs; Boyd Presley is chairman of the sports banquets; B. J. Lilley, Charles Mosby and Zola Burgess are chairmen of the baseball concession; Darlene Lakin, Nancy Conkovich and Candy Carden are chairmen of the soccer concession and Jerry Lakin is responsible for the maintenance of the concession stand.

That's a lot of good people with only the best interest in GCHS students and athletes in mind.

Tuesday Night

Spanky's clobbers Vanzo's 17-2

By AL BARNES for the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The 7-Up/Spanky's baseball team tuned up for its seventh (out of eight) trip to the championship series of the National Baseball Congress tournament this weekend at Wichita, Kansas, by walloping the Vanzo Miners here Tuesday night, 17-2, at Hoppe Park.

Playing manager Bill Stolle and his Spanky's will leave Friday morning for Wichita. They will play two games this weekend in the double elimination tourney.

The victory over Vanzo's was 7-Up/Spanky's 40th to go with 18 losses and one tie.

The game was again a brother versus brother duel. Bill Stolle manages the Spanky's, while his younger brother, Steve, is also playing pilot for the Miners. It was the first season for the Vanzo's, who just managed to win one of six intra-city games between the two teams this campaign.

Spanky's were in a hitting, a heavy hitting mood against Vanzo's as the first three men up in the bottom half of the opening frame jumped all over the Miners' first three left-handers thrown at them in the game.

With Pat Braun throwing,

Spanky's leadoff man, Granite City native and the oldest player, in point of service, on the team, Jack Scarborough, blasted the first pitch down the left field foul line for a double.

Roger Hill, the winner's second baseman and leading hitter (.420), slashed the second Braun pitch so hard toward third a play couldn't be made. Next up, Stolle, clobbered the second pitch way, way over right field for a three-run homer. Stolle finished with a three for five night and four runs batted in.

From that point on, it was a waltz for Spanky's, with a single tally in the second, two in the third, another pair in the fourth, nothing in the fifth, a trio in the sixth and the game's jackpot, six tallies, in the seventh.

Meanwhile, showing every sign that his injured finger on his left hand has recovered from an accident three weeks ago, Spanky's ace lefty, Marc Gluckman, was in complete control from the start as he moved down six straight batters.

However, in the third, after setting down the first two batters, he suddenly appeared to lose his control and walked two in a row. Vanzo's leading hitter, Kevin King, doubled sharply and deep to left scoring the losers' only run. Gluckman ended up with nine strikeouts in the six innings he hurled.

Pat Braun took the loss for Vanzo's, but Jim Scheibel, who had pitched for Solotars Saturday night as the Pointers defeated the Spanky's to stay alive (and finally win) the NBC Missouri State Tournament, relieved in the fourth with two out and was roughed up a bit.

In the sixth frame, Jim's younger brother, another southpaw, Dave, took over and was nailed for three runs. It was a righthander, however, Ralph Jackson, who really felt the full fury of the Spanky's 20-hit offense. In the seventh, he was roughed up for six runs.

Mike Roy, Waterloo native, racked up four hits in five trips. Roger Hill went three for five as did catcher Joe Gasaway.

Said Stolle after the game, "It was too bad that we didn't have some of those hits tonight last Saturday and Sunday."

John Groennert, young righthander from Westlin High and a freshman at SIUE this past spring, relieved Gluckman in the seventh and gave up just one real hit, a two-out double in the ninth.

Tonight, 7-Up/Spanky's play Sauter either at Sauter or at Hoppe, depending on the condition of the field at either place.

G&G gets third in state tourney

The G&G Car Wash women's softball team of Granite City emerged from a 44-team field Sunday, to take third place in last weekend's Women's Class AA Illinois State Tournament, held in Villa Grove.

G&G Car Wash, which went into the final day of competition on Sunday with a 4-0 record, had their only losses come at the hands of the eventual state champion, Belleville Whiz Kids and the state runner up from Hecker.

In the process, four G&G team members were named to the All-State team. They include Natalie Buster, second base; Carol Paskus, outfield; Becky Hayes, catcher and LaDon Van, pitcher.

The area team, which competes in the Granite City Park district 6A league on Wednesday nights, has placed seventh in the tournament for the past two years.

This weekend's third-place finish advances G&G Car Wash to the Midwest Regional Tournament which will be held Aug. 18-19 in Terre Haute, Ind. They will be the first Granite City women's AA team to advance to regionals since Jacobmeyers' in 1980.

The regional tourney will match up teams representing Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Chicago, Louisville, and Indianapolis. The local team will play Aug. 18 against the third-place team from Kentucky.

Winning squads from the eight regions throughout the country will advance to the World Tournament.

Players who represented G&G Car Wash in this weekend's tournament are Dianne Sak, Stacie Ferris, Debbie Johns, Cindy Worthan, Debbie Stein, Kim Bergrader, LeaAnn Bollinger and the four All-Staters Buster, Paskus, Hayes and Van.

The Granite City team is coached by Mike Kmetz and Cookie Buster.

Veterans Day program discussed by AMVET auxiliary

The regular meeting of Amvets Auxiliary Post 31 was called to order by President Shirley Schienschang. Chaplain Betty Clements read the prayer, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance, led by Sergeant-at-Arms Barbara Siebert. Secretary Linda Brockman took roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. Treasurer's report and correspondence included a thank-you letter from Louis Rubinc in appreciation of birthday remembrance and another thank-you letter from the USO.

President Schienschang thanked all members who participated in cleaning the post before a division meeting.

A group of Amvets and auxiliary members took six orphans from the Alton Catholic Children's Home to see the Cardinals defeat the Mets. Second Vice President Jenny Kidwell purchased soda and candy for the group of children.

Mrs. Kidwell has applied to the State Department for a Target Dog Grant for a member's grandchild who was born with several birth defects. At present, the baby is doing well but needs further surgery. It was voted to make a donation to the Target Dog Fund.

A picnic for a softball team sponsored by members Ray and Jenny Kidwell will be conducted at the post. Also on the agenda is a father and son softball game.

Third Vice President Ann Tucker reported that she attended a birthday party for the Organization for Advancement of the Handicapped. Those attending were served hot dogs, potato chips, cake, ice cream and soda. Auxiliary members voted to participate in the monthly parties.

Betty Wilkins, Americanism and SOS chairman, took Cup of Soup to the USO at Lambert Field. The Veterans' Day program was discussed and it was decided to have the program at city hall start at 2 p.m., since Veterans Day falls on Sunday.

A fund raiser is being organized by Ways and Means Chairman Barbara Siebert and a Tupperware party is scheduled for September. A profit of $39 was realized from an Afghan sale, it was reported.

Junior Amvets Coordinator Brand White advised that the Junior Amvets have chartered a bus to attend Veterans' Day at the Illinois State Fair. The bus will leave the post at 9 a.m. Sunday and will return that evening for a cost of $6.00 per person.

Among other Junior Amvet projects are the purchase of several personal items for an Amvet member in the Quincy Veterans'

Home, participation at a children's home, a car wash and the sale of popcorn to raise funds.

The meeting was then adjourned with a prayer, and the colors were retired.

FIVE GENERATIONS. Sara Nicole West, held by her mother, Mrs. Paul (Ronda Shafer) West, is shown with other family members when 7 days old. The newly engaged couple and their parents are making plans for an Aug. 10, 1985, wedding ceremony at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

A 1981 graduate of Granite City High School North, the bride-elect is a senior at Loyola University, Chicago, from where she will graduate next May with a bachelor of science degree in nursing.

GC couple attend anniversary of Liberty Statue cornerstone

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ross of Granite City recently returned from New York, N.Y., where they participated in the 100th anniversary of the laying of the original cornerstone of the Statue of Liberty pedestal. The original cornerstone was laid by the Grand Lodge of Freemasons of New York on Aug. 5, 1884.

A commemorative program, conducted in conjunction with the National Park Service, U.S. Department of Interior, took place on Liberty Island in New York Harbor on Sunday, Aug. 5, at noon, exactly 100 years to the day from the original Masonic cornerstone ceremonies. Lt. Governor Alfred B. DeBello was the main speaker, and other American and French dignitaries, including the Consul General of France took part in the program.

A highlight of the program, Ross said, was the unveiling of a bronze tablet commemorating the original 1884 ceremony. The famous Washington Masonic Bible, on which the nation's first President took his oath of office in a Masonic ceremony in 1793, and the trowel used by Grand Master W. A. Brodie of New York in the 1884 cornerstone laying of the Statue of Liberty pedestal were exhibited, in addition to other items of historical significance on display in the Statue of Liberty museum.

Music for the occasion was provided by the Regimental Band of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N.Y.

Four GCBPW members attend BPW-USA convention

Joyce Bennington, Annette Smith, Rosalie Stern and Sylvia Wright of Granite City, were among the 3,000 delegates attending the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW-USA) National Convention in Nashville, Tenn., last week.

As delegates, Mrs. Bennington and Miss Smith actively participated in the BPW-USA internal and external political process. They cast their votes on the upcoming political agenda for 1984-85, which included the issues of actively working for the passage and ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, securing equal treatment for women in all areas of employment, supporting implementation of equal pay for work of comparable value, and reforming laws governing Social Security and pension programs to achieve equity and adequacy for women.

"It is very exciting to be so actively involved in the women's movement," Mrs. Bennington commented. "The BPW-USA convention gave me the chance to express my opinions on what issues I think are really important to all working women."

From these votes, BPW-USA will choose its legislative and political activities for the coming year.

Mrs. Bennington currently is serving as club president and has been active in BPW-USA since 1982. She has served as recording secretary and foundation chairman. This is her first national convention.

Mrs. Bennington is an insurance broker for MCF Financial Services, Inc., and a member of Central Christian Church, where she serves as vice president of the Christian Women's Fellowship (CWF). She also is a member of the Granite City Art Guild.

The Granite City Business and Professional Women are part of a nationwide network of 3,500 local organizations that make up the BPW-USA National Federation. Granite City's BPW-USA organization was established in 1921 in coordination with the National Federation and works to promote full participation, equity and economic self-sufficiency for working women. Persons interested in further information about the Granite City BPW may contact Florence Moore at 797-0228.

Contracts awarded for bridge work, Mitchell lift station

More construction on the Poplar Street and Interstate 270 bridges, two new bridges for Interstate 255 and a new storm water pump station in Mitchell are among 169 projects for which contracts totaling $12.9 million have been awarded by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Keeley & Sons, Inc., of East St. Louis was awarded a $253,734 contract for removing the top surface of all westbound lanes in the Poplar Street bridge complex from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad structure west to the Mississippi River Bridge and replacing it with bituminous materials. The engineer's estimate on the work was $144,000.

Keeley & Sons also was picked to remove and replace six-tenths of a mile of bridge deck overlay on spans 32 through 35 on the westbound lanes of the Interstate 270 bridge over the Mississippi River. The contract is for $116,580 and the engineer's estimate was $96,800.

Two new overpasses to carry the new Interstate 255 over Ramp 1 and 2 at the intersection of the highway of Collinsville are to be constructed by St. Louis Bridge Construction Co. of Arnold, Mo., at a cost of $3,736,038, which was below the engineer's estimated $3,850,000.

G. McKeenys Corp., East St. Louis, received a $61,221 contract to construct a storm water pump station and discharge line on West Chain of Rocks Road near Thorngate Drive. The bid was below the engineer's estimate of $63,400.

Rite Electric Co. of Granite City earned an $18,731 contract to furnish and install a traffic signal monitor system at five intersections in Clinton, Madison and St. Clair counties and a central monitor at Fairview Heights. The engineer's estimate was $25,000.

Other area projects for which contracts were awarded include 31 of concrete base course and resurfacing on Route 100 from Staten Drive east to Westmont Street northwest of Alton, to be done by Charles E. Mahoney Co. of Belleville for $207,142, and 2.25 miles of resurfacing and other related work at various locations in St. Clair County to be done by Reese Construction Co. of Cahokia for $283,966.

Keeley & Sons also received a $2,289,320 contract to remove and replace the superstructures carrying Route 15 over Route 157 and the Illinois Central and Southern Railroad near Centerville and to do paving on the approaches. The engineer's estimate was $2,059,000.

A bid of $217,549 was accepted from the Kilian Corp. of Mascoutah to remove the structure and replace it with a triple box culvert carrying Livingston Road over a branch of Silver Creek at the south edge of Livingston. The estimate was $237,000.

G. McKeenys Corp. also was successful in bidding for construction of a storm sewer pump station at Route 163 and the Metro-East Sanitary District Canal No. 1 near the south limits of Centerville at a cost of $45,470. The estimate was $48,500.

Keeley Brothers Contracting Co. earned a $71,053 contract to use television cameras to inspect and video tape the storm sewer system along Interstate 55-70 between Illinois Avenue and Exchange Avenue in East St. Louis. The engineer's estimate was $74,900.

Additional contracts awarded by IDOT this week for area projects appear in a separate story in today's Press-Record.

School policy on new Illinois information law

A "freedom of information" policy adopted Tuesday night by the Granite City Board of Education commits School District Nine to comply with the new Illinois Freedom of Information Act, Public Act 83-1013.

Nine basic points are outlined for implementing the new law. Forms to request records are provided, and 20 exemptions from disclosure requirements are listed. An appeal procedure is explained.

A directory shows 55 types of school records in eight categories—general records, Board of Education, financial, personnel, instructional services, building and grounds records, transportation records and cafeteria records.

W. Richard Brinkhoff, administrative assistant for instructional services, is designated as the individual to handle information requests.

Fees for copies of records are 20 cents per page and 10 cents per certificate if the copies are to be certified.

DISMISS HOMICIDE CHARGE IN FATAL AUTO COLLISION

Circuit Judge Philip Hartz this summer dismissed a reckless homicide charge that had been filed Oct. 27, 1983, against Bonnie Wilson, 24, of 2309 Thebes St. The dismissal was based on a motion by the state's attorney.

It was alleged that she was the unlicensed driver of an auto that crossed the Illinois Route 159 center line in Maryville Oct. 25 and collided head-on with a car driven by Miss Sandra Dierkes, 31, who was killed.

Students uncover evidence of prehistoric habitation on campus

REACHING BACKWARD INTO TIME. Tracey Sandefer, Fairview Heights, plots the location of a post hole dating from prehistoric times as Tim Renick, Caseyville, removes the soil from an earthen pit. Renick and Miss Sandefer were members of an archaeological team investigating a historically significant site on the university campus. The team has already uncovered the remains of two houses. One house dates from 800 to 1000 A.D., while the other is somewhat newer, dating from 1000 to 1400 A.D. By examining the site, the archaeologists hope to shed some light on how prehistoric people made the transition from a hunting and gathering community to an agriculturally supported community.

By TOMMYE WALTER

A group of students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this summer are digging up the campus grounds.

But it's quite all right. They won't get into trouble with the authorities. As members of an archaeological team, they are investigating a site on the bluffs which served as a home place for people in prehistoric times.

THE STUDENTS DIG during the cool hours of the morning, arriving on the site at 6 a.m. and working until 9 a.m. After that, they work in the anthropology laboratory until noon, evaluating and cataloging their findings.

So far, the students have uncovered the remains of two houses. Even though the houses overlap, their occupants never knew about one another. They were constructed through two different eras.

One of the houses has been identified as a Late Bluff house, dating from 800 to 1000 A.D. The other is somewhat newer, dating from the Mississippian period (100 to 1400 A.D.).

IT WAS DURING the Mississippian period that agriculture became the basic means of subsistence for people in Southwestern Illinois.

"Before this period, maize wasn't important," William Woods, staff assistant in the SIUE department of anthropology, said.

Through the examination of the site, the archaeologists hope to shed some light on how the transition was made from a hunting and gathering community to an agriculturally supported community, and how the transition affected the people living there.

Also, the survey will link up with a research project conducted by Woods and Sidney Denny, on the Mississippian horticultural exploitation of upland alluvial setting several years ago.

THE SIUE archaeologists contend that a settlement as sophisticated as Cahokia, in the American Bottoms, could not have existed without an extensive support system. "Although the traditional emphasis in Mississippian settlement and subsistence studies has been upon major riverside settings, recent evidence indicates that a substantial upland orientation existed as well," Denny said.

He said the upland areas above the American Bottoms appear to have consisted of a variety of settlements which functioned in a broad range of extractive and exchange activities.

So far, the research team has unearthed a number of features which indicate that the campus area was occupied in prehistoric times.

WHAT THEY HOPE to find are artifacts, such as tools, residue from making tools, broken bits of pottery, awls, bone, harpoons, needles, grinding stones, features such as garbage pits, post molds, underground ovens and ecofacts such as carbonized wood, seeds, pollen, and soil changes. "These are the things we are looking for. We will plot their distribution in space," Woods said.

How they are distributed reflects how they were used at the site. "If it was a home, they lived here. If it was an oven, they ate there," he said.

As the prehistoric hoes were used, Woods said they got a glossy sheen on them. "They got dull. To resharpen them, they just knocked off some flakes."

THE FLAKES ARE usually found in the fields where they were used. "You can assume they were growing things. You can relate what went on with that house and with that family with what went on in the area," Woods said.

Because the land had been under cultivation in recent years, it was necessary to remove what is known as the "plowzone." Then the exposed surface was scraped and examined for tale-tale signs of early habitation.

Any substance which has been transported to the area remains as mute testimony to human occupation. Chemical changes in the soil are something that time, alone, cannot completely erase. "People dig holes in the ground to store things, such as food. After a certain period of time, the pits get moldy and attract rodents. They become no longer useful for food. The holes are filled with garbage," Woods said, pointing to a large circle of darkened earth.

IN ANOTHER CORNER of the excavation, Barb Litz, a senior at the university majoring in anthropology, sliced her trowel downward, through the center of a post mold. "I'm getting some carbon flakes out of this one," she said.

At the same time another student, Tracey Sandefer of Fairview Heights, removed the darkest soil from another post mold nearby. "This whole ridge is covered with features," Woods indicated, waving his arm to encompass the area at the bluff's edge.

"All of this land would have been forested at one time," he said, adding that the bluffs are capped with loess, a silt loam. "It is covered all the way to the Wabash, of course, getting thinner and thinner the farther away you get."

WOODS SAID the soil had developed under forest. "During the last Ice Age, a large part of the Mississippi Valley. Some 15,000 years ago. Vegetation grew through time. If there's a rock here, somebody brought it here," he said. Except for the straight line of darkened circles stretching across the dig, the earth beneath his feet was of one consistency. Sandy loam.

"It's a good site to investigate," Woods said, pausing to observe the digging efforts of one of the students. He was searching for answers that would fill the spaces between the two families on the bluffs who lived so close together but so far apart in time.

External funding at SIUE reaches an all-time high

Faculty and staff at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE) obtained more external funding and received more awarded sponsored projects in fiscal year 1984 than ever before in the university's history. Sponsoring agencies awarded 133 grants to SIUE for a total of $10,429,258, according to Vaughnie J. Lindsay, dean, Graduate Studies and Research. The 1984 fiscal year ran from July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984. This year's funding is a dramatic 116 percent increase over the fiscal year 1983 level of $4,814,125 and exceeds SIUE's prior peak fiscal year, 1979, by nearly $3 million, Dean Lindsay said.

SEVERAL FACTORS contributed to this profound growth, according to Stephen Hansen, assistant dean for research in the Graduate School. National, state, local and private agencies awarded more grants to the faculty and staff for research, teaching and public service activities. Funding for research alone, for example, increased 18 percent, Hansen said. Additionally, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services awarded more than $3 million to the university to operate the Madison County and the St. Clair County Head Start Programs.

The research and training projects awarded during this past year helped endow the university's programs, Hansen said. University Museums, for example, received a $40,837 grant from the Institute of Museum Services to restore and exhibit a collection of Louis Sullivan ornaments. Other awards involved the School of Education, which sponsored projects to upgrade the teaching skills of public school teachers, and the School of Nursing, which received a $136,152 grant from the Public Health Service to implement a graduate program in Medical/Surgical and Community Health Nursing.

In addition to these awards, a variety of federal, state and private agencies awarded grants to the SIUE School of Business, Dental Medicine, Social Sciences, Engineering, Fine Arts and Communications and Sciences, for a large number of research and training projects. A number of SIUE Centers, such as the Rape and Sexual Abuse Center, also received external funding to develop and expand their services.

"THE AMOUNT of funding received this year by SIUE ranks it as one of the top 25 master grant-granting institutions in the United States," Dean Lindsay said. "The level of awarded grants indicates the high quality of the SIUE faculty and staff," she added.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Let's assume that you are driving a motor vehicle in Illinois and you are arrested for driving under the influence (DUI). The most immediate problem facing the driver is whether he should consent to taking the breathalyzer test. This test will measure alcohol content, and consists of the driver blowing his breath into a machine.

A driver has the right to refuse this test, but a failure to take the breathalyzer will result in a suspension of the driver's license for six months. It should be noted that when a driver is arrested for driving under the influence, the officer is to advise the driver of the potential penalties for failing to take the test.

In light of these severe penalties for refusing the breathalyzer, why would anyone want to refuse this test? Two recent cases will help illustrate the considerations in making this choice. In a case in this office, a man was arrested for DUI and initially refused the breathalyzer. The police officer failed to advise the driver that he could lose his license if he failed to take the test. Five minutes after the police officer turned off the machine, the driver decided he should take the test and told the officer of his willingness. The policeman, however, refused to administer it and considered this a refusal.

The state's attorney in this case decided not to pursue the breathalyzer issue. Because of the officer's failure to warn the driver and because the driver was subsequently willing to take the test, the state's attorney agreed to a court order which indicated there was not a refusal. In this case the driver depended upon his driver's license in his occupation, and he was fortunate that his license was not suspended. A driver in this situation should always agree to take the test.

In another recent case which is still pending, the driver arrested for DUI was already on parole on a burglary charge. One of the conditions of the parole was that the parolee was not to partake of any alcoholic beverages. Here he agreed to take the breathalyzer, and the breathalyzer indicated he was intoxicated. The parole board wanted to use this test result to revoke his parole. This is probably an example of a case where the driver would have been better off refusing to take the breathalyzer. Certainly, however, in a majority of cases one should agree to submit to the test.

New state law regulates rides

Governor James R. Thompson signed legislation last week to ensure greater safety on carnival and amusement park rides through regular inspections of equipment.

"People have every right to expect amusement park and carnival rides to be safe," the governor said. "This legislation will help minimize hazards on rides and ensure that a day of fun at an amusement park is not marred by an accident which might have been prevented with proper maintenance of rides."

The Carnival and Amusement Rides Safety Act provides for an initial inspection of rides and attractions by state engineer inspectors, followed by regular annual inspections.

Other provisions of the measure include:

- Establishing a three-member board to supervise the program.
- Requiring a state permit to operate rides and attractions at a cost of $50 per ride.
- Establishing liability insurance coverage minimums required to obtain a state permit.

Each day in violation of the law constitute a Class A misdemeanor. The law will take effect Jan. 1, 1985.

Thompson signed the bill during a press conference at Six Flags Great America amusement park, where the Governor's daughter, Samantha, was celebrating her 6th birthday with friends.

Health official warns of pressure washer dangers

Fred H. Uhlig, acting director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, has announced that six deaths have occurred nationwide as a result of electric shock related to the use of pressure washers manufactured by Britt Tech Corporation, Britt, Iowa.

A voluntary program to provide free safety kits to modify the handles of approximately 136,000 consumer and farm use electric pressure washers made prior to mid 1983 has been initiated by Britt Tech, Uhlig said.

The pressure washers are used to clean houses and other buildings to prepare them for painting. The washers are used also to clean shutters, patios, driveways, vehicles, farm buildings and machinery.

A severe or fatal electric shock can occur when a user contacts the handle of the pressure washer if the machine is not grounded, if the power cord to extension cord connections become wet, an improper or faulty extension cord is used, or a fault exists within the pressure washer electrical system.

Britt Tech distributed these pressure washers nationally under the following trade names: Liquid Blue, Amity, Atlas, Chardon Lab's Power Edge, Continental Oil's Dynalife, Craft Tool and Machine, Earl Grissmer's Blue Luster Dirt Biter, Gulf's Crusiermaster, Jacobsen, Kleen King, Mid-State's Brush Wash, Phillips Petroleum Speed Spray, and U.S. Chemical Clean-a-Mat.

Any consumer who owns one of the above brand-name pressure washers may obtain a free safety component kit and complete instructions by calling Britt Tech Corporation at 1-800-247-0029 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Central Time, Mondays through Fridays. Or, consumers may write to Britt Tech Corporation, Department R, P.O. Box 216, Britt, Iowa 50423.

Four companies selling Britt Tech pressure washers have designated the following procedures for persons who have a machine manufactured under their name: Ford Tractor - See local Ford tractor dealer or call 1-800-247-0029; John Deere - See local John Deere dealer, Massey Ferguson - See local Massey Ferguson dealer or call 1-800-247-0029; White Farm - See local White Farm dealer or call 1-800-247-0029.

Give the company the model, trade name and serial number of the pressure washer. This information may be found on a metal or foil serial number tag on the machine.

The risk of electric shock may also exist with electrical pressure washers produced by other manufacturers. Therefore, Uhlig warns consumers to take the following precautions when using any electric pressure washer:

Always use a properly grounded receptacle. If possible, use a circuit protected by a ground fault circuit interrupter.

Carefully follow all warning and operating instructions provided by the manufacturer.

Keep all cord connections dry. Never remove the ground pin from a power cord or bypass a ground pin by using an adaptor plug.

Never cut or splice the electrical cord. If further information is needed, consumers may call the Consumer Product Safety Commission's toll-free hotline, 1-800-638-CRSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 1-800-638-8270.

Local handbell choir advances to Teen Talent National Finals

After winning first place in the district finals, the Tri City Park Tabernacle handbell choir placed first in the handbell choir category of the regional finals in Dayton, Ohio, last June. The handbell choir now will represent the Great Lakes region in the Teen Talent National Finals, according to the Rev. Jim Parks.

The finals, sponsored by the Assemblies of God National Youth Department, will be at Evangel College in Springfield, Mo., Aug. 16 through 18. Parks says the national winners will be announced during a special awards rally on Aug. 18. He adds that this is the first time a handbell choir from Granite City has been represented at the national level.

Finalists at the national competition will compete in seven categories, including vocal solo, vocal ensemble, keyboard solo, strings instrumental solo, winds solo and handbell choir. The competition Parks says, will climax months of contests among churches, sections, districts and regions within the denomination throughout the United States, with more than 10,000 young people participating.

According to National Teen Talent and Bible Quiz Coordinator Rex Bowman, although participants strive for technical skills, the primary purpose of the program is "to encourage young people to develop their musical talent in order to minister effectively in their local churches."

Under the direction of music minister Don Stratton, members of the local handbell choir include Alan Lenzi, Lisa Lenzi, Vicki Reed, Denise Cooper, Melissa Cooper, Dawn Lamb, Lori Hildreth and Jennifer Ash.

Tri City Park Tabernacle is located at 3400 Maryville Road.
